Our Innovation Hub gives Airmen, students, and inventors the essential resources to build and test technologies. We connect inventors to the Air Force, providing technology commercialization opportunities through technology transition, technology transfer, marketing strategy, and a highly collaborative space.

We use a variety of methods to solve challenges faced by Air Force Global Strike Command. Our unique approach to solutions provides fast, non-traditional pathways for Air Force Global Strike Command stakeholders to scout the best solutions from industry and academia.

Our events, workshops, meetups, and challenges connect you to a community with access to a vast network of experienced facilitators and other subject matter experts. We provide event and collaborative space for entrepreneurs or Air Force Global Strike Command teams to address short-term and/or continually changing needs in a secure environment.
